

Summary of the seventh issue
“NGOs and the private sector: The State as an arbitrator?”

Editorial

- Boris Martin* • Squaring the circle – p. 3

Perspectives

- Michiel Hofman* • Humanitarians in the age of counter terrorism: rejected by rebels, co-opted by States – p. 12
- Tarik Kadir* • The Rohingya refugee crisis: forgotten then, forgotten now – p. 26

Focus : NGOs and the private sector: The State as an arbitrator?

- Jessica Fleurinor and
Caroline Putman
Cramer* • The ICRC and partnerships with the private sector: evolution and ethical considerations – p. 38
- Pierre Boris N'nde* • Refugees wedged between corporate malfunctions and the lack of State involvement: the example of a cash programme in Cameroon – p. 50
- Interview with
Patrice Paoli • “What’s important, is the mission and that everyone be inspired by common guidelines” – p. 64
- Joël Le Corre* • Social Impact Bonds or the pyromaniac State – p. 73

Transitions

- Interview with
Jan Egeland • “We should be as ambitious in protection of the civilians as we have become in assistance” – p. 88

Innovations

- Julien Potet* • Snakebites in Africa: a humanitarian and political fight – p. 101

Reportage

- MAPS* • The MAPS’s Collective – p. 110

Culture

- Totally Brax • Crazy Guidelines – p. 125
- “NGOs. De-politicization of the resistance to neoliberalism? A developing countries Perspective” – p. 126
- Books • From Lesbos to Calais: How Europe creates encampments – p. 130